

Quality & Tradition since 1835

A world of tea since 1835

A.C. Perch's Tea Shop was founded in 1835 in Copenhagen and is the oldest of its kind in Scandinavia. The founder was a local merchant who named the shop after his son, Axel Christian Perch. The ambition was to sell the finest teas from around the world with quality, authenticity, and service, which are still our core values today.

Products

With over 188 years of experience in tea, we offer a wide selection of well-known teas from China, Japan, Nepal, India, and South Africa. We provide over 150 tea varieties and special blends, several of which are dedicated to the royal family, such as Queens Blend, Crown Princess, and Prince of Denmark. It's also possible to create your own special and personalized tea blend.

The range of tea bags consists of 15 varieties, including white, green, black, and herbal teas, with 25 tea bags in each box.

General information about our tea bags:

The tea is packed in our "free-flow" pyramid sachets. The pyramid shape allows the tea leaves to fully unfurl and develop their complete bouquet. Additionally, the mesh of the tea bags is designed to allow water to flow freely through. All our tea bags are PLASTIC FREE – including the outer covering of the pyramid. The material of the tea bags is 100% biodegradable and industrially compostable. Each tea bag is packaged in plastic-free Natureflex foil to ensure that aroma and flavor are preserved.

5 min 100°C

Rooibos Vanilla
Herbal Tea

Classic red Rooibos with a delightful creamy vanilla flavor. Rooibos does not contain caffeine or tannins.

7 min 100°C

All herbal teas are caffeine-free, as they do not contain tea leaves. Rooibos is from South Africa, and the plant resembles a small evergreen tree. Originally, the needles are green but turn red during fermentation when exposed to the sun. Red rooibos, which is the most common, is creamier and sweeter in taste, whereas green rooibos is fresher and lighter.

Sustainability & Organic Practices

At A.C. Perch's Tea Shop, we are working to promote a more sustainable tea industry. This entails meaningful sustainability practices aimed at reducing the environmental impact of all our activities. Additionally, we are committed to ensuring that our products are safe and of high quality.

Ethical Tea Partnership (ETP)

We are a part of ETP, which operates three crucial sustainability programs aimed at improving social and environmental conditions on plantations, factories, and gardens.

ETP provides education and support in five key areas that producers often struggle with. These include factory health and safety, fair treatment of workers, gender issues, agrochemical management, and environmental stewardship.

Bhakanje Tea Estate Project

Through discussions with Kurt Lomborg from the Himalayan Project and Pernille Kruse Madsen from the Human Practice Foundation, A.C. Perch's Tea Shop has entered into a collaboration in Nepal. The goal is to create economic growth for one of Nepal's poorest regions through self-cultivation and tea production.

Since 2016, we have been working to produce high-quality tea from what is now the world's highest tea plantation, Bhakanje Tea Estate in Nepal. In 2021, we received the first tea from Bhakanje, a soft and round Oolong tea with notes of honey and nuts, marking the first highland tea from Bhakanje.

Organic practices

We offer a wide range of organic products. The prerequisite for our selection of organic goods is that the quality of the product must meet our standards. Being organic alone is not sufficient; the product must also meet a level of quality that is justifiable.

The organic label is a European mark that indicates the product is certified as an organic food. The label is used on all organic products in Europe and is subject to strict requirements. All our organic products are regularly inspected by the Food Authority.

Tea cans

A.C. Perch's cans are made of 100% recyclable tin, making them one of the most environmentally responsible packaging options on the market today. The "METAL recycles forever™" logo is developed by the Metal Packaging Europe (MPE) industry association.

Products with this logo are made from a responsible material that reduces global resource consumption and can, in theory, be recycled indefinitely. One of the logo's most important purposes is to make it easier for consumers to correctly sort the packaging when it is discarded.

Tea bags

A.C. Perch's tea bags are made from cornstarch and are 100% biodegradable and compostable. The string is not glued to the bag but is heat-treated. The tea bags do NOT contain plastic and can be sorted as organic waste.

The packaging around the tea bag is made of Natureflex, which is also biodegradable and plastic-free. These should be sorted as regular waste.
